FOUND DEAD BESIDE TRACK

Mangled Body Thought to be Charles Jackson

A Peculiar Cut on His Throat Excites Suspicion

Early this morning the body of a man, apparently about 30 years old, was found horribly mangled on the inward bound tracks of the Boston and Maine railroad at North Hampton.

Both legs had been severad and the body cut completely in two. Word was sent to this city and the medical referee was sent to the scene.

In searching his clothing a parole card from some institution at Cambridge, Mass., was found bearing the name of Charles Jackson. Nothing else was found on his person. His hair is of dark red and the man was fairly well dressed.

A cut on his throat caused the railroad men at the station to think there might have been some foul play connected with his death as the wound did not have the appearance of being inflicted by the fall from the train. The medical referee is inclined to think different on this and states that it could be caused in several ways and was not a clean cut. He will later make a further investigation of the wound on the throat.

The body was turned over to Undertaker O. W. Ham and placed in the receiving room to await any information that may develop relative to the dead man.

RAILROAD LAWYERS ADJOURN

Work of Four Day Session at the Wentworth

Seventy members of the convention of the railroad attorneys and their wives took the Sam Adams, passenger boat, on Friday afternoon, for a trip about the harbor, after which they embarked on the steamboat Munnatawket for Appledore island.

At the Appledore Hotel they were the guests of Manager Henry W. Morse at a special dinner and were shown the beauties of the island in the sea.

They left the island at 9.10 p. m., for Fort Constitution, where they disembarked on the wharf, and were taken by waiting automobiles to their quarters at the Hotel Wentworth. They had had one of the most enjoyable times of their lives. The sight of the salt water is a novelty to the most of them, and the arrangements for this one had been first class, and everything went along smoothly.

Contrary to some sensational stories which have been sent to papers at a distance, the convention has been devoted solely to the discussion of the legal interpretation of the amendments to the Elkins law, and their effect upon railroad operation and management. The convention closed at noon today. The greater number of the attorneys go home via the White Mountains.

NEW PHARMACY

Charles E. Tilton Opens a fine New Store today

Charles E. Tilton this morning opened his beautiful new pharmacy at the corner of Market street and Commercial Place in the quarters recently occupied by the Mechanics and Traders National Bank. For some time the building has been in the hands of Berry and Clark of Portland and they have provided a splendid new fixtures in furniture in mission oak. All equipment is of the finest quality, with show cases of the silent salesman pattern, and electric and other fixtures to match the room.

At the left on entering is the candy case and on the right the large soda fountain. From the candy case along the wall extends a series of tables and chairs for the serving of soda water and ice cream, for these are to be specialties of the new store. The soda fountain is in charge of Clerk Stewart Coleman.

Next beyond the fountain is the cigar case and beyond that the cases for fancy goods and toilet articles. Back of these cases and along the partition at the rear of this large front room are the glass fronted cases for medicines, etc.

At the rear of the front room is the spacious prescription room with a full equipment of shelves, and apparatus and drawers, and a complete line of drugs and chemicals. The room is well lighted and prescription work will be handled under the most favorable conditions. This department is in charge of Mr. E. E. Hagland, who comes here from the Dufort pharmacy in Manchester.

In the rear of the prescription room is the large private office. This has a fireproof vault for the prescription books and other things that must be safely preserved.

For storage purposes, the large and well ventilated basement is convenience itself.

The head clerk, in charge of the establishment is Harry Brightman, formerly of Grace's store in this city, a happy choice for Proprietor Tilton, who also has reason to be pleased with the fine class of help he has secured for every part of his new store.

Long life and prosperity to the Tilton Pharmacy.

Funeral Services for the Late Dr. William G. Berry

Exeter, Aug. 6.—A notable guest at the Squamscott on Friday was Ulysses S. Grant, Jr. He spent a year in Exeter while his father was president, graduating from the academy in 1870. He has not since revisited exeter until Friday.

The funeral of Dr. William G. Perry was held at the home on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The large attendance included many visiting relatives, professional associates and townspeople. Stores were closed from 3 to 4 o'clock. The simple service was conducted by Rev. George H. Driver of the First church, assisted by Rev. S. H. Dana of Phillips church. Mr. Driver read selections from the scriptures and made the prayer. Dr. Dana gave the fitting eulogy. Both officiated at the brief committal service. There was a large array of the choicest floral tributes. The bearers were the grandson, William P. Dudley; a grandnephew, Dr. Theodore J. Eastman of Boston, and two kinsman, Oliver M. Chadwick of Lowell, Mass., and Daniel E. Gilman of Exeter.

Thurston was sentenced to that institution for a charge of being intoxicated.

Senator Robert P. Bass of Peterborough who is a candidate for the gubernatorial nomination, and who made a brief visit here last week, will probably return later when he will speak. Arrangements are being made for a Bass rally at Newmarket, which will probably be held in a short time.

Fred Poliquin and Perrin Hersey, two well known local musicians, who have recently closed engagements at Haverhill, Mass., and Franklin, were here Firday night at the opera house here. Many of their friends were interested in their appearance and greeted them before the footlights.

Exeter, while possessing many veterans of the Civil war, contains only a solitary colored veteran, in the person of Freeman Wallace, who has reached the age of 75 years. Freeman is one of the well known and respected citizens, and has followed many vocations. It is he at present who keeps the streets free from clutter and rubbish. He is a native of the north, being born here, where he has resided the greater part of his life. His father reached the ripe old age of 104 years. He was a citizen of Gilmanton. Freeman at the opening of the war of the Rebellion, enlisted in the navy and served through the four years on the U. S. S. Marietta. For many years he has been a member of the Moses N. GLOVER WILL CASE REOPENS

Supreme Court Judge Orders a Trial by Jury

ISSUE FORMALLY FRAMED

Probate Court Decision Upholding Glover Will Is Set Aside—Supreme Court Overrules Objections of Counsel For Widow of Murdered Man, Who Claims That Panel Would Be Biased Because of Publicity.

Boston, Aug. 6.—Judge Morton of the supreme court allowed the contestants in the Glover will case to frame an issue for a jury trial in Middlesex county in the fall. The issue is: "Was the will of Clarence F. Glover procured by fraud and undue influence of Lillian M. Glover?" She is the widow of the testator who was murdered in a laundry in Waltham. Hattie Le Blanc, charged with that murder, is awaiting trial.

After a long hearing in the probate court in Middlesex county, Judge McIntyre allowed the will and four of the brothers of the testator, William L., Albert R., Arthur B. and Norman S. Glover, appealed from that decree.

They filed a number of issues which they desired to frame for a jury trial, but in court yesterday Jesse Gove, of counsel for the contestants, waived all except the single issue which was allowed. The counsel say that evidence bearing on two of the other issues, relating to the marriage of Lillian Glover to the testator and of the murder of the latter can be put in under the issue allowed with a view to showing prejudice on her part.

Samuel D. Elmore, executor of the will, appeared as counsel for himself and vigorously opposed the motion to frame issues. He contended that it would be impossible to draw a jury which was not biased by reason of the publicity that has been given to the case. Elmore is counsel for Mrs. Glover.

Judge Morton permitted counsel to offer any consideration or suggestion that might tend to influence his mind so as to cause him in the exercise of his discretion to deny the motion for a jury trial, though he assured the attorney that he was undertaking a heavy burden. Elmore then proceeded to delve into a big pile of newspapers and memoranda that he had on the table.

When Elmore had concluded Morton asked Gove what he proposed to show in the case, and in reply Gove said:

"We expect to show that Glover himself only a few days before signing the will told a witness that he had either got to sign away his rights, go to prison, or a bullet, and that shortly before his death he said to the same person: 'I had to either sign away my rights, or make a will.'

"We expect to show that previous to that time for years he had told his brother that his wife was making life a hell on earth for him, and that he couldn't do what he wanted to. We shall show evidence of these things, and we think we can satisfy a jury of unprejudiced men that this instrument was not the will of Clarence F. Glover, but was a will he was forced to make in order to get peace inside his own home and that he never intended to make such a disposition of his property."

Judge Morton said that he would allow the motion to frame the issue in question. He said that when the case was reached for trial, if it was felt that a fair trial would be impossible, counsel could then present the considerations urged on the court and such other matters as he might have, and if the court then felt that counsel's view was correct the issue could be discharged and the case tried by a single justice instead of by a jury.

COMPLAINANT DROPS DEAD

Claremont, N. H., Aug. 6.—Public spanking by parents took the place of a sentence to the industrial school given two boys in court, charged with taking packages of tobacco from the store of Louis A. Bean, a blind man.

When Bean was notified to appear at court to testify against the boys he started on the way from his grocery store at the lower village and dropped dead on the street. He had heart disease, and it is thought the excitement was too much for him.

SAYS PARENTS SOLD HER TO HUSBAND

Five Hundred Dollars the Price Paid For Child Wife

Chicago, Aug. 6.—Mary Davisco, 16 years old, alleged child wife of Jamico Davisco of Gary, Ind., who is in jail in that city charged with slashing the girl's throat, told the police of Gary that her parents sold her to Davisco for $500.

She said that after the sale she was bound with ropes until she consented to the transaction, but avers she took no part in the alleged marriage ceremony, which is said to have been performed in Chicago.

The girl says that Daviso and her parents devised daily tortures for her, and that finally she ran away. The court at Gary ordered Daviso not to molest the girl, and this, she avers, so angered him that he attacked her with a razor, inflicting wounds from which she now suffers.

QUIET MARRIAGE OUT

Frink-Peterson Nuptials Took Place at Brookline

The residents of Greenland were recently treated to a mild surprise when the marriage of two well known people of that town was made known.

The contracting parties were William H. Frink, son of the late J. S. H. Frink, and Mrs. Lillian J. Peterson. Though the couple were united on April 5 by the Rev. Francis Rowley at Brookline, Mass. the same was a secret for some time following the ceremony.

In January, 1906, a suit for $25,000 was instituted by Wendell Peterson against William B. Frink for the alienation of his wife's affections and the affair caused quite a stir in the town. The case never reached the court owing to the activity of the families to keep the affair from the public as much as possible.

The case concluded, however, with judgment for defendant. Later divorce proceedings were instituted by Mrs. Peterson, claiming desertion and this was uncontested by her husband.

THE WONDERER

I wonder what toll collector Falvey will do without those kerosene lamps on the bridge?

I wonder who pinched the five spot from the barber on Saturday last?

I wonder who told that bunch at the Ellery Drill company they could play ball?

I wonder if the two marines who wanted to get home in a hurry from Hampton a few nights ago will ever go back to pick up the automobile that was left up-side down in the road?

I wonder if under the primaries the tickets on election day will not be somewhat shy for candidates?

I wonder if Portsmouth's Hibernian fraternity won't give the strangers a bang-up good time at the state convention hire?

I wonder who started the rumor that the new telephone directory books were an improvement on the previous issue?

I wonder why all those local baseball fans are not seen or heard in the vicinity of the score board on Congress street when Boston Red Sox get the short end?

I wonder if the Newburyport colored delegation did not put the finishing touches on the gay life of the Thursday Night club?

I wonder if there was not a mistake in the rumor that Charles Granville Asay was down and out in ward 5

I wonder if the Sunday thirst is still on?

I wonder if Portsmouth is not the convention city of New Hampshire?

I wonder if the wireless didn't do the trick on Dr. Crippen?

I wonder what will happen in wards four and five this year?

I wonder if Dover will ever be on the other side of the Piscataqua river dam?

I wonder if that big hole in the paving at the corner of Islington and Middle streets cannot be filled in before something happens there in the way of an accident?

I wonder where Portsmouth's once up to date police force has gone to?

I wonder if Portsmouth don't see the cream of automobiles in the summer season?

I wonder where that new fire alarm box is for the hospital?

I wonder if the visits of prominent railroad officials to this city two or three times a month lately stands for anything?

I wonder if that tree stump in front of the federal building is considered any ornament to Pleasant street?

I wonder if Eliot won't be doing pretty things next week?

I wonder if we are really going to get a Labor day parade?

I wonder if the new municipal quarters on Daniel street will be dedicated on Nov. 1?

I wonder why the Boston and Maine railroad equips the Portsmouth bridge with up to date incandescent lights and makes the traveling public move by the light of those red beans at the depot?

I wonder what some of the local automobile men consider a speed limit of ten miles per hour?

I wonder if some of the girls do not miss the New Hampshire?

I wonder what effect the work of the experts will have on the hand-tub Eureka?

I wonder if Seaman Coleman of the U. S. S. Eagle did not do a heroic job in saving the newsboy from drowning on Tuesday?

I wonder if Portsmouth has not the prettiest and best corps of female nurses in the state?

I wonder if Portsmouth saloon keepers will adopt the rule of Worcester bartenders: "No more drinks on the house"?

I wonder if some of the catch basins of the streets are not excellent mosquito breeders?

I wonder how the voters of ward 5 will like it going back to the old battlefield on Bow street?

I wonder what the lady clerk at a leading dry goods store thought when she got the order for a quart of whiskey over the telephone?

REGATTA COMMITTEE

At the meeting of the Portsmouth Yacht club last night Commander Ralph W. Junkins appointed the regatta committee, consisting of William Phinney, Clifford W. Lowd, Richard O'Brien, Albert Smith and Harry Stackpole to arrange for the outing at the Woodbury Langdon summer home at Fox Point, Aug. 21.

SOME GOOD, SOME NOT SO GOOD

Dr. C. E. Johnston and Sanitary Inspector William P. Young of the board of health announced on Friday that the twelve ice cream dealers, whose products were inspected by the state board, are now issuing a product that conforms to the standard of purity. Dr. Johnston said that the cream of six of the twelve dealers was found below the standard and that of the other six successfully passed the test when the first samples were taken.

YORK BEACH

More than 1000 persons saw York Beach take a double-header from the Waltham A. C. of Waltham, Mass., on Friday. In the morning game Larney outpitched Connelly, the home team winning by 5 to 2. Devlin contributed the fielding feature a sensational catch, while the stickwork of Taylor, Gravison, Devlin and C. McKenna was noteworthy. Two sharp double plays were also features.

The afternoon game went to York Beach by 7 to 1. Gravison was more effective than Barry, though the Waltham high pitcher had poor support. May's catch was one of the greatest ever seen on railroad field. The all-round work of Taylor, a Brown man, and Connelly's stickwork were the features. The Waltham team is the only team that has beaten York Beach, winning in 11 innings, 3 to 2. The Beach nine has won 18 out of 19 games this year.

A rumor of a holdup on Congress street proved to be a canary of the yellowest hue.

BASS FISHING

THE GORE INVESTIGATION

The McMurray Indian land contracts must be thoroughly investigated by the committee which is on the work in behalf of Congress, as the result of charges made by Senator Gore of Oklahoma in the Senate last winter.

The dragging of the names of Vice President Sherman and of several senators and representatives into the affair, with the implication that they might be interested in a shady transaction, has had the effect of calling the attention of the whole country to the matter and any whitewashing program will be bitterly resented and the resentment manifested at the polls.

Mr. Sherman was formerly chairman of the House committee on Indian affairs, has been in a position to know about the Indian lands, and his evidence would be valuable even if he were not in a sense a subject of investigation.

Senator Gore himself appears to regard the Sherman insinuation as of little weight, and he was reluctant to tell it, doing so only when it was demanded by the committee. It seems that he says that a bribe offerer named Hamon tried to make a proposed bribe appear safe by saying that the vice president was in the deal, a semi-plausible statement in view of the vice president's former committee position, and one well calculated to carry weight if believed. Outside the interested parties there seems to be a general disposition to believe in Mr. Gore's truthfulness on the matter, and the matter is resolving itself into a question of whether Hamon lied. Hamon has made an explicit denial and brought a counter accusation.

There doesn't appear to be any real evidence against the vice president, only a remark by a man who is discredited by the person to whom he is alleged to have made the remark.

But the matter must be thoroughly probed.

An insinuation like that must be either substantiated or refuted. Any mild measure of trying to cover up something, or to let somebody down easy, will not go. Somebody will be hurt and hurt badly before this is over.

Meanwhile the country is waiting for the evidence.

BIRDSEYE VIEWS

With the announcement of the opening Monday of the International Peace Congress at Stockholm, Sweden, comes the news that the neighboring state, Norway, is to spend a million and a half dollars in putting her national defence on a stronger footing. Sweden had taken much the same precaution some time ago, and Norway, although she is well represented at the peace congress, is improving the golden opportunity by building a line of border fortresses along the Glommen river and mounting them with new guns. Narvik, a strategic point of importance on passes leading from Sweden, is to be strongly fortified; the region which supplies power and electricity to Christiania and South Norway is to have a new line of defences, and means are being devised for the protection of the coast of northern Norway.

General George W. Gordon, commanding the United States Confederate Veterans, has issued an appeal to Southerners to contribute to a monument to the negro slaves who during the civil war stayed at home and while their masters were at the front took care of the women, and children on the plantations, raised crops for their support, nursed them, guarded them, and generally played the part of faithful servitors and friends.

One of the most curious of campaign roorbacks derives its inception from the confusion of the McCalls. A man named McColl, a cotton manufacturer, a friend of Mr. Henry F. Lippitt of Rhode Island, and working in the same interest with him, was in Washington last winter in behalf of certain cotton schedules. Doubtless his course was perfectly legitimate from a manufacturer's point of view. But to assign his efforts, and his alleged utterances in connection with them, to Samuel W. McCall, the Massachusetts member of the Ways and Means Committee, is a manifest blunder, and yet one into which some of the newspapers have fallen.

The New Hampshire Trades Unionist prints a fine picture of Hon. Bertram Ellis of Keene, and a kindly article of comment on the man of whom it says that he has been "fair and square with all, and if he is selected to fill the governor's chair for the next two years he will be found ever ready and willing to do what is right by all the people of New Hampshire."

AMONG OUR EXCHANGES

Insurgent Kansas

Like the ever startling report that the Dutch have captured Holland comes the news that the insurgents have carried Kansas.

The sunflower state is forever insurging. She was born kicking and won the glory name of "Bleeding Kansas" before she was out of the cradle. She was literally raised on blood.

Now, armed with a modern type of Sharpe's rifle, she is after the blood of Uncle Joe and that Dutch uncle of the senate, Nelson W. Aldrich, and the whole brood of standpatters. For Kansas never stands pat or stands anything else very long.

In a day of uniformity and conformity, it is at once remarkable and pleasing to note what individuality certain states have and what consistent characters. All the tides of immigration have not availed to submerge the native insurgency of Kansas, and through every vicissitude of fortune she has steadfastly remained regularly irregular.—Boston Globe.

Big Bays and Little Ones

Sir W. S. Robson, counsel for Great Britain in the Hague trial of the fisheries dispute, says that if the American theory as to large bays prevails, Great Britain will withdraw its recognition of Chesapeake and Delaware Bays as our territorial waters.

It is unfortunate that maps of the far north are printed on such small scale. Hudson's Bay and Strait, claimed as territorial waters by Canada, are larger than the Mediterranean or the Baltic, both immemorial open seas. The Gulf of Newfoundland, long conceded to be territorial and British, is incomparably larger than any American water. Chesapeake Bay could be dropped into the mouth of the St. Lawrence river above Anticosti island, which is indisputably Canadian.

The so-called coastal bays of Newfoundland which are in dispute are wide and shallow, mere bendings of the shore, much as our coast bends from Cape Hatteras to Nantucket. The headland to headland coastline now claimed for Newfoundland was in the arbitration of the Alaskan boundary question abandoned by the casting vote of the British Commissioner, Lord Alverstone.

To attack the territoriality of little bays like Chesapeake and Delaware while maintaining that of great seas like Hudson's Bay and the Gulf of Newfoundland is too absurd to be more than a lawyer's bluff.—New York World.

War in the Night Time

Army men and everyone who takes an interest in the development of the modern military art in this country will take keen concern in the maneuvering of the regulars and national guard troops at Gettysburg, with especial reference to the effects being made there to train the troops in night attack and defense.

Night maneuvering has been undertaken there on a large scale and under conditions said to be more like real war conditions than have been found in any other similar maneuvers held in this country. The forces were divided into a Red and a Blue army. Mammoth searchlights were brought into play. The searchlights used were of the portable type and similar to those used in the coast defenses.

Valuable experience was gained by officers and men in the night maneuvers, according to the reports from the field. Much was learned about the use of searchlights. Officers and men found out something of the intense difficulties of trying to conduct war at night, as compared with day operations.

As was to be expected, men became confused and lost in the darkness and many a soldier got separated from his command and straggled back into camp hours after the maneuvering was over.

War at night loses all of the pomp and glitter and circumstance that is supposed to accompany it by day. It has nothing about it but what is deadly and businesslike. It calls for the highest development of efficiency. Especially does it demand the most thorough discipline and the most thorough information. The regulars and the guard cannot have too much training in the business of warfare by night. The next great war will doubtless be fought and decided largely in night actions. To what a large extent night fighting prevailed in the war in the Far East is familiar. Apparently, the American forces have been altogether too tardy in taking up with night maneuvering, but it is gratifying to notice that they are now entering seriously into it.—Boston Journal.

Portsmouth citizens endorse them.

Arlon A. Ballou, machinist, 56 Pleasant street, Portsmouth, N. H. "I think as highly of Doan's Kidney Pills today as when I first used them. For sometime my kidneys were out of order and caused my back to become very lame and painful. I finally got so bad that I could not attend to my work as any sudden movement sent sharp twinges through my body. Doan's Kidney Pills, procured from Philbrick's Drug Store, came to my relief and I have had practically no trouble from my kidneys since. Whenever I hear anyone complaining of backache, I advise him to try Doan's Kidney Pills and I know of several persons who have acted on my suggestion and have been benefited."

Dorothy Deacon Is a Princess After Vexatious Opposition

Well, now that Dorothy Deacon is the Princess Radziwill, let society breathe more easily. The American girl had a hard time getting to be a princess, but Cupid, who is king, overwhelmed all opposition at last and won the day. The Princess Radziwill, elder, mother of Prince Albert Antoine Radziwill, made strong objection to the marriage of her son to a girl not of the blood royal. In fact, the whole Radziwill family seems to have objected, and from time to time the wedding was postponed. The prince possesses great estates in Poland, it is said. He is virtually the head of his ancient house, and it is devoutly to be hoped that his American bride will not suffer from too much mother-in-law.

Two companies of marines from the navy yard, 150 men, under command of of Major Henry Leonard, will be a feature of the Eliot town centennial parade next Thursday. The arrangements for their appearance in the line was announced on Friday evening.

At Green Acre on Sunday morning the Swami Parananda will be the speaker. On Sunday afternoon, Prof. Q. E. B. DuBois, the noted Negro orator of Atlanta, representing the National association for the Advancement of Colored People, will speak on "The Condition of the Negro Population of Our Country."

Miss Nye and the senior girls at Laniel camp with associate members, went on a sunrise picnic, or Chantecler party, to Monsalvat on Wednesday, rising at 3 a. m. in order not to miss the first flush of dawn. A glorious sunrise rewarded them; breakfast on the mountain and a walk completed one of the happiest parties of the season.

The Lanier camp junior boys and girls enjoyed an excursion to York Beach on Wednesday. Nature study is always the chief object of these trips and adds much to the pleasure of the young folks.

Miss Cornelia Walter of Baltimore, Md., is the guest of Miss Marian Rows at Lanier camp.

Mrs. E. W. Adams of Mount Vernon, N. Y., is spending several weeks at Lanier camp.

ONE MOMENT PLEASE!
Electric Sign advertising is no longer an experiment. The most successful firms of world-wide reputation as well as the stores with whom we have done business give us facts that prove the advertising worth of Electric Signs to be far in excess of any method of advertising that has ever been devised for the amount expended.
Look for the most enterprising city of today and you will find one that uses Electric Signs on all available locations and where merchants appreciate the advertising value and use light. I am making and selling the best signs that can be produced, not the cheapest, cut signs that will stand up and give service for years. Recent inventions have reduced the cost and also the cost of maintaining. Public spirit and civic pride demand well lighted business sections in our cities, why not do your part with a well lighted, artistic Electric Sign and increase your business as well.
I charge nothing for estimates or sketches and am always willing to explain details and serve your interests. Respectfully yours.

The Observer

A SWEET DREAM

Some day I'm going to lead a life of economic care,
To realize a future that is generously fair,
Relieved from all the envy and the struggle and the stress,
I'll revel in the popular idea of success.
I'll have the dollars coming in a swift and steady flow;
Sped by their own momentum whether times are swift or slow;
And then, when ease is permanent and profits are precise,
I'll calmly cross my legs and smile and pass around advice.

I'll join the gleeful chorus, as it sounds in sweet accord;
"To be good is to be happy." "Virtue is its own reward."
"A penny saved is equal to a penny earned, you see—
And the way to save your pennies is to send them 'round to me."
I'll outline plans to better our conditions here below—
Though I won't drop any tips on how the market's going to go.
I'll cultivate a waist line—life will be serene and nice.
When I cross my legs and smile and pass around advice.

Score one grand success for Portsmouth and New Castle, in handling the reception and convention of the general solicitors of the railways of the United States. The members of the party numbered about seventy of the best known lawyers in the country and the man in charge of the arrangements here was Edgar J. Rich, general solicitor of the Boston and Maine railroad. In ninety per cent of the cases it was the first visit of the lawyers to this section, and to say that they were charmed and delighted with their visit is expressing it modestly. The surprise to the local public was to find that the members confined themselves exclusively to work and the hours were from 9 a. m. until 5 p. m. daily with one hour for lunch, and the time for recreation was from 5 until 9 p. m. and much time was taken up in conference with committees. Friday afternoon the party took their first respite from work and went to the famous Isles of Shouls, to grasp the hand of Manager Morse of the Appledore.

Every time H. W. Manager Priest of The Wentworth entertains a convention at the magnificent hotel he makes for himself and his hotel a wider reputation. No man received greater praise as a hotel man than did Mr. Priest at the hands of the lawyers of the country at their meeting there this week. Said one of the principal attorneys from the South: "We have some pretty fine hotels in the South, but this one beats anything I have ever seen. It is the most beautiful spot that I have ever visited, and the hotel is the best managed I ever saw." On every hand came words of praise for the landlord, Mr. Priest, and his success is shown when it is known that the hotel is taxed to its capacity.

Edgar J. Rich, general solicitor of the Boston and Maine railroad, made an ideal host to represent New England's great railroad, in looking after the comforts of the distinguished counsel and he was given many compliments by the visitors for his untiring efforts to make their stay here pleasant. In order to look after the return trip of these men he had traveling passenger agent Gourlay of the Boston and Maine present, to look after them.

The frightful condition of the roads in the eastern section of Rye is subjecting the selectmen of that town to some harsh criticism. The road leading to the Wentworth is in a horrible condition, and it is up to the selectmen to at least dump a few loads of gravel into the holes. Manager Priest of the Wentworth employed some men and teams this week in an effort to improve conditions. It would be a credit to Rye if it would do its part in the work.

One of the keenest and brightest men seen at the convention of general solicitors of the railroads of the United States was Vice President E. G. Buckland of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, who called to confer with Edgar J. Rich, general solicitor of the Boston and Maine railroad. Mr. Buckland is one of the youngest men in the country holding a similar position, and is said to be the best posted man in the country on the interstate commerce law. He is a hustler and speaks with a positiveness that shows his careful study of all questions affecting the management of great railways. He is enthusiastic over the New York, New Haven and Hartford, and the ability of his chief, President C. S. Mellen.

Real estate deals appear to be as numerous as the sales in some of the stores, and another big transfer is on. The values are not improving with the other business and some of the sales at auction have been way below the prices at which the property was taxed.

Candidate for governor, Bertram Ellis made a most favorable impression on the voters here on the occasion of his recent visit, and he made scores of friends. Mr. Ellis is dignified in his bearing. Said a well known voter: "Every Republican he met was a vote for him in the primaries."

PYTHIAN TEMPLE IN PROSPECT

It is learned from a reliable source that a new Knights of Pythias temple is likely to occupy a part of the site of the Winchester property, the sale of which to Messrs Frank W. Knight and Albert Hislop was reported in this paper on Friday.

WENDELL ESTATE TRANSFERRED

Captain McBride to Take Possession Today --- Plans for More Land and a Five Company Post.

The transfer of the Jacob Wendell estate in New Castle to the United States government through the War Department, took place on Friday and today Captain Robert McBride, U. S. A., the commanding officer of this district, will take possession for the government.

The price paid for the estate, which includes twenty-two acres of the best sea shore property in New Castle, a magnificent country home, stable and a fine caretaker's home, is $75,000 and that amount has been received by the Wendell estate. At this price the government considers that they have purchased it cheap, for the house alone was valued at about $20,000, and if taken on condemnation proceedings, the government would have had to pay nearer the $100,000 mark.

The government now owns, including the Rand property, twenty-seven acres of harbor front land, and they will shortly increase this to about thirty-five acres by the purchase of the Belknap property, terms of purchase having already been agreed upon by the government and the heirs of the estate.

Captain McBride, the commanding officer of this district, in speaking of the transfer, said that in a short time the government would own all the land they needed for a proper post for this district. The plans are for a five-company post, which is required for the proper manning of the three forts in this harbor. In fact, more men are required, but five companies or 998 men are all that will be allowed.

The plans for the post have been drawn, but they have not as yet been accepted by the War Department, or the Congressional committee, which will be necessary before an appropriation can be asked for. The estimated cost of the buildings, etc., for this post is $500,000, and it is expected that Congress will be asked for the appropriation at the next session.

The present buildings on the estates taken over will be retained until the construction work is started for the plans call for buildings of concrete or brick, and all fire proof. It is understood that no work will be started before a year's time, but when eventually finished, this district will be one of the most important on the coast.

The sale of these estates on the harbor front removes from the tax valuation of New Castle about $100,000 of taxable property, but on the other hand, with the big increase in the post from 150 to nearly a thousand men, and the great amount of construction work, will pay the town, and at the same time increase valuation in other parts.

BADLY INJURED IN A RUNAWAY

R. E. Hannaford is Thrown From Wagon on Deer Street.

Mr. R. E. Hannaford, the florist, of Congress street, was seriously injured in a runaway on Deer street, Friday forenoon.

Mr. Hannaford was driving up Deer street when the shaft of his wagon broke and it fell down on the heels of the horse, the sharp edge of the shaft inflicting a ragged cut on the horse's leg and he became frightened and ran away. In front of Martin's grocery store he collided with the grocery wagon of that firm, turned it upside down and overturned the florist's wagon, throwing Mr. Hannaford out. He struck on his back and hip and was cut and bruised about the head, while at first it was thought that this hip was broken. He was taken to his home on Richard's avenue and on examination by Dr. Hannaford, he failed to find any broken bones, but he was badly bruised and shaken up and will have to remain in bed for several days. Mr. Hannaford is a very heavy man and his escape without a broken bone is very fortunate.

The horse after overturning the wagon, continued on down Deer street narrowly missing Mr. Walter Measday, a newspaper correspondent, and several others, who were walking up the street. He was captured at the end of the street without inflicting further damage.

NAVY YARD HOPES FOR MORE WORK

Mechanics Hear of Two Jobs Authorized and Expect Similar Orders.

Boston, Aug. 6.—Special work has been authorized on the scout cruiser Salem and the gunboat Castine, now at the Charlestown navy yard. At present the yard is suffering for something to do to keep the working force intact and these jobs will help some in that direction. With the fall election in sight and close contests promised the men are expecting that several additional orders for work will be forthcoming within the next few weeks, and they declare that big discharges are likely unless the navy department authorizes jobs now held up and makes more liberal allowance in cash.

VICE PRESIDENT DENIES STORY

Story Absolutely Without Foundation and Does Not Worry Him.

Utica, N. Y., Aug. 6.-Vice President Sherman has branded as an untruth any statement purporting to connect him with a personal interest in the McMurray Indian land contracts. Sitting before a blazing log at camp Crag, on Big Moose lake, where he is summering with his family, Mr. Sherman read carefully the testimony of U. S. Senator Gore before the special congressional investigating committee at Muskogee, Thursday.

Laying aside the paper, the Vice President said:

"I never heard my name mentioned in connection with the contracts which were the subject of Senator Gore's testimony yesterday. I never had any interest of any kind, other than the interest which I have for years had in the welfare of the Indians, and which I shall ever have in any Indian contract—no personal interest, I mean.

"The story, so far as my name is concerned, is without any foundation whatever. If any person has said I had any interest in this or any other Indian contract, he has stated what was not true."

Mr. Sherman said he remembered having met Mr. Hamon four years ago in the campaign, when Hamon called on him at Washington with a delegation from Oklahoma on a political mission.

"I haven't seen him since," continued Vice President Sherman; "in fact, I don't believe I would know him if he were to enter the door this minute. I never had any conversation with him regarding the McMurray contracts, and had no personal interest in them in any way."

Mr. Sherman said he had heard nothing of the alleged attempt to bribe Senator Gore until the latter's declaration on the floor of the senate, and no name was mentioned at that time. "I have endeavored always to show Senator Gore every consideration in the senate, as he is blind," he said, "and I think the manly thing for him to have done, if my name was mentioned in connection with the McMurray contracts, would have been to have informed me of the matter."

Senator Gore's sensational declaration to the senate, just before adjournment, that an attempt had been made to bribe him, was recalled by Mr. Sherman, as was the vice president's subsequent appointment of a committee to investigate the charges.

The vice president reached camp Crag Thursday. He has summered with his family there for several years and that night he received fragmentary accounts of Senator Gore's charges by wire. A heavy electrical storm had put the telephone at the camp out of commission, and he did not learn of the details of the affair until Friday.

Camp Crag, where the Shermans have a cottage is situated on a promontory jutting out into Big Moose lake, in one of the wildest sections of the Adirondacks. It is reached after a three mile drive by stage from Big Moose and a launch trip across the lake.

The camp thermometer dropped to 52 on Friday, and a dash of rain now and then made the fireplaces indoors attractive. The bracing mountain air has greatly benefited the health of both the vice president and Mrs. Sherman, and the latter has about recovered from her recent illness.

Mr. Sherman expects to remain at the camp until Sunday, when he will return to Utica to attend to some business matters. He plans to spend as much time as possible at the camp during August, and expects to take the stump in the west for the republican congressional committee, late in the month, opening probably in Illinois. He said he would probably deal largely with the tariff issue in his speeches.

Mr. Sherman took an optimistic view of republican conditions in New York state, "but," he added cautiously, "it won't be a case of win; instead, somebody will get licked, and that somebody will be the democrats, as usual, in my opinion."

BASE BALL

The buiness men's baseball team defeated the clerks at the playgrounds on Friday evening in a game that furnished lots of amusement and sport. The game was called at six o'clock and there was a big crowd present to watch the game. George R. Woods pitched for the business men and Mates was on the firing line for the clerks.

The clerks were unable to solve Woods' curves and they were defeated by a score of 20 to 13. The business men claimed that they stopped at twenty as everybody was tired of running bases.

The lineup of the business men were G. Woods, p; O. Shaw, 2b; W. Robinson, ss; Newall, 1b; N. Beane, cf; A. Clark, 3b; J. G. Sweetser, rf; W. Woods, lf, and Smith c.

TO HOLD AN ATHLETIC MEET

Demand For a Meet Like That Held on Fourth of July, for Labor Day.

Physical Director Caleb Howard, who is the supervisor at the public playgrounds, is arranging plans for a big athletic meet on the playgrounds for Labor day. It will be like the successful meet held on July fourth, and if the necessary support can be secured the meet will be held with three medals for each event.

There has been a great increase in athlitics since the playgrounds have been opened and Mr. Howard has had many suggestions for such a meet for Labor day, that being the next holiday.

At the present time the playgrounds is proving to be a great success and every evening there are crowds there.

TO BE TAKEN AWAY QUIETLY

Quebec, Aug. 5—The continued absence from Quebec of Inspector Dew added another minor element of mystery to the Crippen case today. It is thought that his wish to escape unwelcome attention is not of itself sufficient to account for his trip to Montreal and his further journey to Toronto and Niagara Falls began last night.

It is strongly suspected that his mission is to arrange so that that he may get his prisoners out of the country with less publicity than attended their arrival. In moments of his greatest annoyance the Scotland Yard detective intimated strongly that he would so manage affairs that the excitement which marked his coming to Canada would not be duplicated when the party reached England.

If his purpose is to be accomplished the departure from this side must be made in secrecy.

Inspector Dew's Quest.

"Nobody but those immediately concerned," Dew is quoted as saying, "will know upon what steamer we leave or when we land on the other side."

This has been accepted by the newspapermen as something of a challenge and so has aroused special interest in the inspector's immediate doings. It is supposed that he is now engaged in interviewing steamship and railroad officers to ascertain how the trip back to England may be accomplished in the most secretive manner.

While the British officers could put their prisoners aboard a steamer within two miles of the jail where they are now confined, and land them in Liverpool, if they are determined upon escaping publicity, any one of several plans might be adopted. They could take the doctor and Miss Leneve by train to St. John, N. B., or Halifax, N. S., both Canadian ports; or they might put them aboard a tug here and transfer them to a liner at some point agreed upon along the 500-mile stretch in the St. Lawrence river between Montreal and the river's mouth.

Agreement to Silence?

There is also interest today in the seeming understanding between Dr. Crippen and Mls Leneve made during their flight, as to what either should say or not say in the event of their arrest.

According to their custorians, neither has been led into saying a single word about the other. The jail governor, Joseph Moran, declared today that since their confinment neither of the prisoners had so much as mentioned the other in any way.

Magistrate Angers, who exmanied the accused last Monday, today said that he expected no further legal action in the case until Sergt. Mitchell of Scotland Yard arrives from London next week with the papers applying for extraditions. Mitchell will hand his papers to Magistrate Angers and the presence of the prisoners will not be necessary on this occasion.

Miss Leneve is reluctant to receive any callers. A church of England clergyman, who visited the jail and asked to see the girl, received from her the reply that she did not wish to see any one.

A HITCHCOCK PLEASED

Washington, Aug. 5 —Postmaster General Hitchcock was gratified when he returned home from Europe to learn of the fulfillment of his prediction of a reduction of $10,000,000 in the yearly postal deficit.

The report of the auditor of the department showed the saving for the fiscal year to be $11,573,000. The total amount of the deficiency for the 12 months ending June 30, was $5,970,000, as against $17,480,000 for the preceding fiscal year.

The savings of the year averaged nearly $1,000,000 a month, a record never before attained.

The postmaster general stated that in the coming year he hoped to make such further reductions in the cost of the postal service as will wipe out entirely the annual deficit and place the department on a self-supporting basis.

CALIFORNIA REFINING OIL COMPANIES

Combine absolute safety of principal--certainty of enormous increases in value of stocks--and assurance of large dividends.

QUICK FORTUNES FROM TIMELY INVESTMENTS

It would require volumes to record in detail the large number of fortunes made in California Oil Stocks. The following will give a general idea.

$100	Invested in SAUER DAUGH OIL COMPANY,	since had a value of	$3,800
100	" " NEW YORK OIL COMPANY	" " " "	3,900

100	" " LUCILE OIL COMPANY	" " " "	16,000
100	" " HOME OIL COMPANY	" " " "	46,000

The above does not include the dividends which have in most cases, been several times the original investment.

No other industry in the world can show such a record of enormous fortunes made from comparatively small investments, in so short a length of time. No other industry can show a record of 96 per cent of successes. Oil companies show a larger per cent of dividend payers than any other class of investments.

Oil Stocks are appealing to the shrewdest and most conservative investors

California Gold Production for 1909 was $21,000,000.
Its Oil Production was $33,000,000.
36 California listed companies paid $1,418,775,00 dividends in June. Total dividends to date, $46,440,813.00

THE RANGE 16 OIL COMPANY

CAPITAL, 500,000 SHARES, PAR VALUE $1.00
250,000 SHARES IN TREASURY

The best investment among California oil securities is the treasury stock of this company, now being offered for 25c per share

The Famous Newhall District

This company owns outright 40 acres in the Newhall district of California, and controlls by lease 320 acres in the New Arnold district. This land is proven ground surrounded by flowing wells, and the product is the highest grade refinery oil.

This latter fact is important as there is not sufficient oil of this grade produced to supply the demand and the refineries all compete for it at high prices. On the contrary there is at present an overproduction of fuel oil.

"REFINING Versus FUEL OIL" from the California Oil News and Digest

The only free producer we have left today and who can get just about what he wants and just about what he asks for, is the operator in the light oil belt of Old Ventura-Newhall and in some parts of the Santa Maria and the Whittier Fullerton fields. Owing to slight production that is totally inadequate to meet refining necessities, our light oil man enjoys great freedom and is run after by refiners among whom is a strong competition for his output. His situation is in high relief against and in sharp contrast with that of the producer of fuel or heavy oil. Furthermore, there is not anywhere near enough light oil produced in California to supply the demands of the refiners, which is a statement that is absolutely true and without equivocation or ulterior design. Thirty refineries in California stand ready every day in the week to bid for light gravity or refining oil. They will pay under contract from $1.00 to $1.25 for every barrel of 42 gallons of light oil delivered to them at the railroad. In addition they will pay their own freight or transportation charges, eliminating storage charges, altogether a diffirence of 100 per cent in profits in favor of the light oil operator. His development costs no more. His production is bigger from the same depth, while the life of his wells is demonstrably greater.

The stock of the Range 16 Oil Company is intrinsically the cheapest oil stock on the Eastern market today. Why? because it is capatalized at a fraction of the usual amount, thus insuring a large dividend rate per share. Its Newhall property alone is actually worth more than the valuation placed on all its holdings at 25c per share. Its management is vested in the hands of men who have been prominently identified with the oil industry for years. There is no insiders stock for sale, and the principal owners who are also the managing directors, are holding their stock for $10.00 per share.

The allotment at 25c per share will be quickly taken. Subscriptions should be sent in at once to insure getting any at the above price. Make cheques payable to

NEARLY DROWNED IN THE RIVER

Two Boys Capsized in Boat off Henderson's Point

On Friday afternoon, Perry Shaw and Phil Sheridan, bell boys at the Hotel Wentworth, had a narrow escape from drowning in the river.

About half past three the boys were off Henderson's Point in a small row boat in a strong ebb tide, trying to get down the harbor.

They not being acquainted with the tides, the boat became unmanageable and drifted between the drilling scow of the Massachusetts Contracting company, and the shore, where it ran against one of the cables, holding the scow, and capsized.

Boys Grab Cable

The accident occurred over one hundred feet from the shore and in forty-five feet of water. The boys, though excellent swimmers, could do nothing in the strong current that was running, but hold on to the cable the best they could.

Capt. T. E. Evans of the navy yard tug, who was nearby, witnessed the accident and did everything he could to attract the attention of the steamer Queen City, which was off the opposite shore, but the people aboard the boat failed to hear his cries to go and pick up the boys.

Drill Crew Come to Rescue

Finally, the crew working on the scow saw the boys, one of which was attempting to make the shore hand over hand on the cable. Adolph King and Richard Dingwell put off in a dory from the scow and reached them in quick time. They were hustled into the boat and landed on the point, where further assistance was rendered by Capt. Evans and others.

Though they had a close call from a watery grave they did not appear to realize the danger they had passed through.

They Come from Massachusetts

Shaw gave his home as Readville and Sheridan said he belonged at Newton Upper Falls.
